LUCKY TRIMMER, the beloved Berlin festival for short pieces, is coming to Wales! By gathering seven of its most cheered and whooped artists and their “cream of the crop” 10 minute performances, the unique program LUCKY TRIMMER DOES WALES! promises breathtaking diversity with its unconventional approach - this time featuring a special selection of international bite-sized treats seasoned with a light pinch of entertainment and a generous dose of challenging artistic awesomeness. What you can expect: A solo re-incarnation of a Strauss waltz, memories of Twin Peaks, a very lively foot, an atypical walk through the streets of Berlin, indispensable household tips, nostalgic images and short but yet poignant narratives - multiple journeys take place, take us with them and leave us with seven different recollections to hold onto. This waterfall of award-winning pieces and UK premieres is a celebration of dance for loving fans and fearless souls.

LUCKY TRIMMER is an independent curatorial dance platform engaged with physicality, movement and performance founded in Berlin in 2004. Our manifold and weatherproof jury selects short pieces that touch our hearts out of a pool of international applications and put them together to form an extravagant feature-length program. LUCKY TRIMMER stands between worlds by bridging the avant-garde and the mainstream and by combining artistic excellence with the lightness of entertainment. Our world revolves around contemporary dance but is open to all genres as long as the 3 LUCKY-rules are followed: be original, be bold and keep it under 10 minutes! Our view of the world is naive and fearless. Over the years, LUCKY TRIMMER has evolved using ideas drawn from the perspective of a child's mind: a lack of fear and expectation, the ability to lose one's self in the creative process, learning through explorative playfulness. By fostering the child mind in a casual, cabaret-like atmosphere, LUCKY TRIMMER has injected wonder, humor and risk-taking into its attitude, benefiting both the artists and audience with new visions of possibility and resulting in establishing itself as the world renowned "gateway drug for contemporary dance and performance art" and a mainstay in the Berlin cultural landscape.

YUKIHIRO TAGUCHI (JP/Berlin)

The award-winner multimedia artist Yukihiro Taguchi (born 1980, Osaka, Japan) has garnered much attention in recent years for his unique performative installations, which combine elements of drawing, performance, animation and installation. Yukihiro graduated from Tokyo National University of Fine Arts and Music. He has exhibited his work both solo and collectively all around the world and moved to Berlin in 2005 to pursue his career.

DAGMAR DACHAUER opens the special edition with Wie soll ich das erklären (How should I explain), a solo re-incarnation of a Strauss waltz in which she investigates the historic epoch of its origins during the old Empire (1814/1815). Through her body and there - with gained knowledge, a critical yet humorous reflection of national pride and of Austria's careless years is revealed.

This welcoming number gives way to the next piece. In an exploration of nostalgic images of her Grandmother, the Italian dancer and choreographer FRANCESCA FOSCARINI enamours us with a character that exists before and after death. From family roots to physical demands the body shows and develops its own language - this take place over time and over a short, but telling period of time in the case of LUCKY TRIMMER.

With his video installation Moments - Performatives Spazieren, YUKIHIRO TAGUCHI leads us on a different type of journey. Planks of woods are set in motion for an unconventional stroll through the streets of Berlin bringing a brand new physicality onto the stage.

The quest for roots and family reminiscence continues with LUCIA MAROTE. In her award-winning solo El Pie (The Foot), Lucia embodies a short story written by her brother Andrés Marote and takes us on an unusual odyssey from death to life with astonishing effect and beautiful simplicity.

Floating Flowers from PO-CHENG TSAI and the B.DANCE COMPANY follows this pursuit of the search from a different viewpoint - through symbolic visuals and an art of play Po-Cheng guides us from one state to the next finding inspiration in fatherly memories and a sea of floating lanterns.

SAMUEL LEFEUVRE comes next with a monoLOG. Replicating the well known figure, the Log Lady from David Lynch's Twin Peaks, Samuel wants to make the mysterious and unknown world visible through movement. The borders between reality and fantasy will be displaced.

The show closes with an essential household skill: the baking. Bernadette, the charming although obsessive-compulsive housewife character portrayed by CAROLINE FINN is faced with the mundane task of apple pie making which spirals into a touchingly futile struggle against chaos. Bernadette oscillates between restrained sequences danced around the preparation of a cake and violent falls that undo what has been designed in an apparent mastery... A LUCKY Classic!

El Pie (The Foot) was born from the desire to return to the familiar, to recognize origins as part of the individual and to take them into account when embarking on a creative process. This longing to reconnect with her roots made Lucía delve into the (mostly unpublished) stories written by her brother Andrés Marote. After reading his short story El Pie, Lucía took her brother's writing as an initial inspiration for her new project gradually embarking on a different path from the original text.

"I placed the gun between my lips. My lips were dry and still wanted to catch the cold steel. I shot. My brain is scattered, adhering to the walls. I fell inert, naive after seizures. I thought I abandon myself (...)" - Excerpt from the story El Pié by Andrés Marote

SYNOPSIS

Floating Flowers is inspired by the religious Taiwanese tradition of the water lanterns, a ritual held during the Ghost Festival, one of the most important Buddhist ceremonies practiced in Southeast Asia. Floating lanterns is a worshipping practice meant to send away bad luck, bring happiness and pay respect towards the aquatic spirits. In cultural tradition, water lanterns deliver wishes as well as regards to the dead.

*“As a child, my father took me to the Ghost Festival every year. He led me to write down my wishes on the lanterns and I always hoped that all these wishes would come true. Many years later, my father died of cancer and since then I have never again attended the festival. Two years ago, on my way to a dance lesson, I suddenly saw a picture of water lanterns on a wall. I was immediately transported back to my childhood as the memories of the Ghost Festival gushed vividly out. I came to realize how foolish I had been at the time only making wishes for myself rather than praying for my family. While I was reminiscing about my father, I also became aware of how changeable and fleeting life can be: it might perish anytime, without warning. I then decided to create a piece for my father to commemorate him and to simultaneously free myself from those haunting memories. Here is how Floating Flowers was born” - Po-Cheng Tsai*

10 MINUTES - UK PREMIERE

A modern oracle scanning the audience for an unknown force that will ultimately consume him.

CHOREOGRAPHY & PERFORMANCE Samuel Lefevre MUSIC Samuel Lefevre

SYNOPSIS

"I carry a log - yes. Is it funny to you? It is not to me. Behind all things are reasons. Reasons can even explain the absurd." - Introduction by the Log Lady, Twin Peaks 1st episode.

monoLOG is inspired by the Log Lady Monologues that introduce every episode of David Lynch's TV series Twin Peaks and the Log Lady character itself. As a modern oracle, she tries to connect with others telling them words of ominous wisdom, never truly understood, but always mysterious and appealing.

"The parallels between this character, the idea of oracle, and the status of performer fascinates me. The idea is to connect with a hidden, unknown world, through movement and to try to make it visible to others. Which part of it is real, which part is make-believe? How does the performer let himself be carried away between one and the other?" - Samuel Lefevre
